Help wanted: Director of Teacher Support [3]

NCSE is seeking to hire a Director of Teacher Support. The full-time position involves overseeing NCSE's current teacher support programs, NCSEteach and Scientist in the Classroom, as well as developing and implementing new programs that provide tangible and practical support to as many science teachers as possible. The Director will also be expected to deepen NCSE's ongoing relationships with teacher associations, climate change education groups, and the education departments of scientific societies. Further information about duties, qualifications, salary and benefits, and the application process is available from NCSE's job page [4].
