NCSE is pleased to announce that the latest issue of Reports of the National Center for Science Education is now available on-line. The issue — volume 38, number 2 — is the tenth issue in the newsletter's new, streamlined, and full-color format.

Featured are Mark Bloom and Ian C. Binns's report on their survey of attitudes toward evolution among pre-service elementary teachers; Brad Hoge's report on NCSE's new Turning Misconceptions into Educational Opportunities project; Emily Schoerning's explanation, with examples, of how new activities are developed for NCSE's Science Booster Clubs; Randy Moore's discussion of David Starr Jordan, and Glenn Branch's review of The Quotable Darwin.

The entire issue is freely available [4] (PDF) on NCSE's website. Members of NCSE will be receiving it in printed form shortly. (Not a member? Join [5] today!)
